Adrian Brady : Blunders, Gaffes and Own Goals: The Funniest and Daftest Sports Quotes Ever! before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Blunders, Gaffes and Own Goals: The Funniest and Daftest Sports Quotes Ever!:

A side-splitting collection of the best verbal bloopers made by sport stars and commentators Reporter: "Did you visit the Parthenon while in Greece?" Shaquille O'Neill: "I can't really remember the names of all the clubs we went to." "Baseball is 90% mental. The other half is physical." —Yogi Berra "I owe a lot of my parents, especially my mother and father." —Greg Norman "He treats us like men. He lets us wear earrings." —Torrin Polk. Whether it is a confused cliché or mixed metaphor, or a person stating the ridiculously obvious or the babbled banter of a post-match interview, this magnificent collection of sporting quotes celebrates the glorious slip-ups of sports stars and commentators. Every imaginable sport is featured as are many famous sporting greats, proving that nobody is immune to the occasional dimwitted blunder.

"He treats us like men. He lets us wear earrings." (Torrin Polk) "The lead car is absolutely unique, except for the one behind it which is identical." (Murray Walker) "Without being too harsh on David, he cost us the match." (Ian Wright) "Left hand, right hand, it doesn't matter. I'm amphibious." (Charles Shackleford) "I owe a lot to my parents, especially my mother and father" (Greg Norman) "Baseball is 90 per cent mental. The other half is physical." (Yogi Berra) Reporter: "Did you visit the Parthenon while in Greece?"; Shaquille O'Neill: "I can't really remember the names of all the clubs we went to." About the Author Adrian Brady has worked as both a journalist and PR consultant.
