stages of her adult life. Holding nothing back, she shares her simple background as a child, and the hurdles that life throws at her as this early 30s woman is torn between being the best possible mother, wife and working professional. Realizing quickly that she or her life isn't perfect, Carrie shares an extremely honest insight to the everyday stressors and along the way, tosses in moments resulting in tears and loss of bodily functions. As another reviewer noted, Carrie writes in a very simple down to earth style that is comforting, and what you could expect from swapping relatable stories over mimosas with your best friend during sunday brunch at Catalina Island. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four Stars By JamesFun, super fast, easy read. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Must read for working moms and wives! By Shannon Duggan This book is fabulous. You will not want to put it down. Carrie's writing is contagious. I loved every moment and can relate in so many ways!

When thirty-one year old Carrie is over-extended, exhausted from work, and trying to pull together the perfect birthday for her child, she ends up on the kitchen floor, lying in a sticky mess of splattered cupcakes, wondering how exactly she had gotten to this point in her life. A candid memoir, Burnt Cupcakes-a Memoir of Marriage, Motherhood and Madness, is the story of a young woman who is struggling to balance her marriage, two babies, career and home, not to mention all the social pressures that accompany raising a family in a close-knit community, all while not losing herself along the way. Presented with truth and humor, readers of Burnt Cupcakes will respond with recognition and empathy to an honest and genuine, but not always pretty, depiction of contemporary marriage and motherhood.
