She searched and she found Him for whom she searchedBy PaulThis is a great autobiography of a young woman through her university years at the University of British Columbia to Moody Bible Institute to candidate with China Inland Mission to her departure for China as a missionary with CIM. It starts out with her questioning the faith with which she had grown up, but never really accepted for herself, when a university professor started describing the myths of Genesis. She decided she was an agnostic, and went all the way through the university that way, unaware of the Godly people who were praying for her soul. But she didn't have peace, and couldn't live with herself, and couldn't sleep, until one night when she was tempted to commit suicide, but couldn't do it, and instead, prayed to God for peace, and God gave her peace. For some time after that she struggled with worldliness and God's direction in her life, but step by step, God showed her the way He had for her, and she trusted Him, and He directed her paths. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Such an encouraging autobiography By RSL This book was loaned to me 12 years ago and I really really loved it... I was reminded of it again this year so I bought it, and once again was so encouraged and challenged as I read it. A real-life account of Isobel Kuhn, and it gives you such a big, encouraging picture of a God who cares about the little details in the life of His children. Loaned it to a friend a couple months ago, and she also really loved it, shared it with her sister, and asked if she could pass it on to another of our mutual friends. I'm glad this book is making the rounds among my connections. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Inspired By Kindle Customer Written in a simple, honest, humble way. I am encouraged by the testimony if a missionary three generations past. God was doing an amazing work in people's hearts at that time through simple people who taught the word and prayed. Lord, please give us such a work in our day.

Isobel Miller gave up God for worldly pursuits. But as graduation approached and her engagement was broken, she questioned that decision. "If You will prove to me that You are, and if You will give me peace, I will give You my whole life." God heard Isobel's prayers and responded. He reached out to her, ending years of searching, and building her up for decades of fruitful missionary service with her husband, John Kuhn, in China.

From the Back Cover Isobel Miller gave up God for worldly pursuits. But as graduation approached and her engagement was broken, she questioned that decision. "If You will prove to me that You are, and if You will give me peace, I will give You my whole life." God heard Isobel's prayers. He reached out to her, ending years of searching. Her response was to dedicate her life, along with her husband, to missionary service in China. About the Author ISOBEL KUHN (1901-1957) (Moody Bible Institute) was born in Toronto, Ontario, Canada.
