A Book Like a Cat: Inexplicably Charming By William Holmes It's a little hard to explain why I like this book, but it's engaging in a way that any close observer of cats will appreciate. If you aren't a dyed in the wool cat lover, you will probably be mystified by this book. But if you enjoy the company of cats, you'll find this cartoon collection to be something special. The cartoons trace the daily activities of an Everycat named Misty, who does all the things cats usually do--climb into grocery bags, lick themselves at awkward times in awkward places, knock things off of desks, hiss at vacuum cleaners, run around the house for no particular reason. There's no punchline as such to any of the cartoons, other than a purr and a warm sense of familiarity. It's a testimony to the artist's skill as an observer that he has done such an engaging job of capturing the essence of what makes cats so pleasing to those who love them. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Got a few good chuckles out of this book By LeeBee818 I bought this book along with the author's other book "Cats Are Weird" for my husband who loves cats and enjoys reading websites like "ICanHasCheeseburger". I was kind of disappointed. I would describe this book as cute and a little bit funny. I Would definitely recommend Simon's Cat instead of this book if you want to laugh out loud. 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. For Cat Lovers of All Ages By GrannyX7 After purchasing this book as a Christmas gift for a niece who loves cats, my young granddaughter saw it and fell in love with it. She instantly wanted to know why I hadn't gotten it for her, and wanted to explain each page to me. The pictures are really adorable and you will find yourself going, "Awww!" or laughing out loud. But, it is a little like people who can't stand children. They don't really see the awesome humor and sweetness in kids, until they have their own. If you never had a cat, you might not appreciate the little excursions into cat mentality, or that of the people who keep them. But, if you love the little aggravating critters, or know someone else that does, this is a great way to get or give a smile.

Celebrated comic artist and graphic novelist Jeffrey Brown's collection of all-new drawings sweetly illustrates the joys of living with a cat. Featured in McSweeney's and on NPR's This American Life, and praised by comic luminaries Chris Ware and Daniel Clowes, Brown's work has always paid tribute to felines as they curl up on couches and purr on the peripheries of his autobiographical stories. Cat Getting Out of a Bag follows his cat Misty really, any cat as she goes about her everyday activities and adventures. In a series of drawings, Brown perfectly captures the universal charm of cats in a lovely book sure to please fans and cat lovers of any stripe.

About the Author Jeffrey Brown has written and illustrated numerous graphic novels and comics, and his work has been widely anthologized. He lives in Chicago.
