Mr. Jonathan Jay Brandstater : Claynines before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Claynines:

The title Claynines is a play on words. The characters in this book are dogs made from polymer clay, as well as modeling dough. The book is 30 pages long and consists of a series of photographs. Each picture shows a character engaged in a particular activity. The photographs might be considered sight gags, especially since each caption includes a play on words.
