Dustin Drankiewicz : Cocktails for Ding Dongs before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Cocktails for Ding Dongs:

With humor and playfulness, this collection of cocktail recipes and comics offers updated twists on classic cocktails. With appearances from pop culture characters, inebriated unicorns, and more, this cocktail guide aims to bring the sophistication of the craft cocktail to the average swiller. The original recipes were created by the bartender of the Michelin-starred group 16" on Center (Longman Eagle, Dusek's, Moneygun).Dustin Drankiewicz served stints bartending in Milwaukee and Las Vegas before becoming beverage director for Chicago's restaurant/hospitality group 16" On Center.Alexandra Ensign is a University of Chicago graduate and bartender who spends her free time creating zines, comics, and illustrations to sell at local comic conventions and fests.

"Cocktails for Ding Dongs is the bar book equivalent of a flamingo swizzle stick: if truly delicious cocktails weren't enough to get you in a good mood, Drankewicz's hilarious recipes and Ensign's playful comics will surely do the trick. Now go get some booze, your strainer, and your shaker and have some fun, you dumb dumb!"Marnie Galloway, cartoonist and author of In the Sounds and Seas"What a joy it is reading this marvelous book about boozing! It's craftily written with lots of fine drink recipes, and the drawings are charming in an innocent, homemade way."Tony Millionaire, cartoonist and author of Maakies"Dustin Drankiewicz brings a laid back approach to cocktail making that sways from the pretentiousness that many in the libation field would be quick to learn from. Simple, well-thought-out flavor combinations and a nod to the classics will make Cocktails for Ding Dongs a classic book to draw influence for your next dinner party or drunkening event!"Chef Jared Wentworth, executive chef for the Michelin-starred restaurants Longman Eagle and Dusek's "Luckily for me I drink. Professionally. Take my advice and have a well made tittle on hand while thumbing through this book. At least you'll have that going for you. In a pinch, tear out the pages, as they seem to be absorbent and make adequate cocktail napkins." Charles Joly, award-winning mixologist, co-founder of Crafhouse Cocktails
