From Brand: Pelican Publishing : La Nochebuena South of the Border before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised La Nochebuena South of the Border:

2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Funny and educational By Kai J. Kruse James Rice did an outstanding job with a variation of poems on "The Night Before Christmas". There's Cajun, Irish, Hawaiian, and others. This one is the Mexican Version. I acted it out with my 3rd Grade students for a holiday show, with some students reading the English and Spanish version and some students acting it out. Everyone had a blast. The illustrations are capturing the enjoyable tone. This is for all ages, even older students and adults will get a kick out of this book.

A sombrero-wearing Santa is making his rounds through the Mexican desert in James Rice's latest twist of a holiday tale. The text appears side-by-side in English and Spanish. -- From the Publisher

About the Author
Author/illustrator James Rice (1934-2004) produced sixty books, including the illustrations for Pelicans treasured The Night Before Christmas Series. Rices first book, the well-loved classic Cajun Night Before Christmas, has more than 750,000 copies in print. Young readers can enjoy more of Gastons adventures in Gaston Goes to Mardi Gras and sample Rices other childrens stories with favorites such as Texas Jack at the Alamo. With more than 1.5 million copies of his books in print, Rice ranks among the nations best-selling creators of childrens books, receiving awards from Printer Industries of America and the Childrens Book Council, among others. Years after his death, Rices family found the art and text Gaston Joins the Circus, and this discovery has brought Gaston back for one more adventure!
