and I was sad when the book was over. I hope to see a second batch of stories. I gave my copy to a principal friend of mine, to share with his teachers. Time to buy another copy! Thanks, Jan and Lynda!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. An amazing read by a delightful authorBy MiboWow, I was so pleasantly surprised and delighted with this charming book. The author really shows her kindness and humanity for all our critters. I absolutely need to read a sequel! Hope the author is working on the next book.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Well written and so funny!!By Michael NapolitanoWell written and so funny!!!! If you know the author you know these stories are all true!!! Good for all ages. I can't wait to share it with my grandchildren.

Traveling with an odd assortment of animals in the car is all in a day's work for Jan Berlin, a humane educator in Orange County, New York. We're talking tarantulas, blind cats, chameleons, opossums, doves, legless lizards - you get the idea. In Jan's world (and car), anything can happen. And it often does. This laugh-out-loud collection of animal escapades will keep you turning the pages to find out what could possibly go wrong next. (Hint: The baby opossums did SOMETHING wrong inside Jan's purse.) In the end, though, Jan and her animals do what they do best. They teach children and adults that all creatures have something to offer, even the kinda creepy legless lizard, and every one of them deserves to be treated with respect and kindness.
