By Jack Preston King I write a lot on my "Felix at Fifty" blog, often with great nostalgia, about growing up in the 1970s - and here is another opportunity for all of us aging Baby Boomers to reminisce a bit, and with a smile on our face, to boot! When I was a kid, everybody subscribed to Reader's Digest. We kids largely ignored the boring articles, but we lived for the funny stuff - Laughter, the Best Medicine, Humor in Uniform, etc. We laughed out loud. We told each other those clean, innocent jokes on the playground (what a different time the Seventies were). As an aspiring writer, at the age of ten, I even sent RD a few jokes for consideration (I think they paid $50 back then if they used your joke - an enormous amount of money to a ten year old, especially in 1970s dollars!)... Anyway, Laughter Really Is The Best Medicine: America's Funniest Jokes, Stories, and Cartoons offers a terrific opportunity not only to reminisce about the simpler times of our youth, but also to find lots of not-too-challenging, clean jokes you can safely tell at the office, or use to add entertainment value to speeches, sermons, staff meetings, etc. Great stuff! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Sent this copy to my sister who was just recently ...By Patricia Mallory Sent this copy to my sister who was just recently diagnosed with CA of colon and now liver issues. I told her proven stats on healing from laughing and the benefits claimed. I will personally read these to her, we shall prove CA Wrong and laugh our way along this journey, with Gods Blessings and help. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Clean Jokes!!! Did you hear about the Broadway actor who broke through the floorboards? He was just going through a stage. What did the ill comic say in the hospital? "I'm here...all weak!" Charles Dickens walks into a bar and orders a martini. The bartender asks, "Olive or twist?" Posted in a dental office: "Be kind to your dentist. He has fillings too." "The main advantage of being famous is that when you bore people at dinner parties, they think it is their fault." -Henry Kissinger, Nobel Peace Prize, 1973 As Groucho Marx once said, "A laugh is like an aspirin, only it works twice as fast."
