Steve Kluger : Lawyers Say the Darndest Things before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Lawyers Say the Darndest Things:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Staggering to believe it ever found a publisher.By John A. LefcourteAn absolute waste of money. Not only are the items not funny, there are only three to a page. They are mostly quotes from briefs, deposition summaries, and the like. Here's a typical example (p.58): "Plaintiff possesses sandy brown hair and an Arizona Driver's license. "(Two inches of blank page)"By appointment they met at the plaintiff's son's house, which is near Mr. Stewart's house. The meeting lasted about one-half hour and they talked mainly about tacos."(Two more inches of blank page)"The plaintiff was alive at the time he filed the action."There are 118 such pages.I not only did not finish the book, after skimming it. I threw it in the garbage to prevent anyone else from wasting time and money.
