this thing to a friend of mine at a restaurant. I literally had to take it back from him because I'm fairly certain he would have wet himself from laughing before the check came had I not. These guys have tapped into the ids of the players in some of the more confusing and curious points of world history, the stuff that your teachers and bible camp recreational activity coaches could never really give you an adequate explanation for. Honestly, the summary of Martin Luther's arguments with the Catholic Church is worth the cover price, and it's pretty much spot on. The authors clearly pride themselves in their ability to be brief and efficient and just deadly accurate. Give this to anyone you want to have an inside joke with at your next family get together, like that cool uncle that bought you beer when you were 18, but whose lifestyle your Mom doesn't, you know, approve of. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. There are better books in this genera than this. By Customer I bought this book after reading the History of Facebook book, which was great, so I looked for others in the genera. This book however didn't hold a candle to the other, it is not as funny and feels cheap. Buy the other one! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Three out of five. By Holly not quite as funny as I thought it would be, but good. quite a few laugh out loud parts. Honestly I could see how some people would have issues understanding some jokes if they aren't huge into history. If that's the case, if they ready more of the current stuff they might find it to be funnier. This was recommended to me by a friend Wickedly funny and irreverent, this hilarious parody of Facebook takes readers on a wild ride through the ages to imagine the status updates, profile pages, and late-night exchanges of the most famous figures in history. The recent discovery of the ancient Ethernets has forever altered the way humanity views its past. Among the many amazing findings is a rich trove of Facebook dispatches that date back to the beginning of time itself. Now a selection of these lost Facebook updates is at last available for the world to see! Noted historians Brylon K. Tilgh, Ph.D., and Dr. Tony Cougarmouth have carefully selected the best status updates, profile pages, and late-night exchanges found on the ancient Facebook, including: GOD and ABRAHAM'S exchange over Isaacs life (God was a real practical joker!) HENRY VIIS many relationship status updates and the POPES responses Live updates from GANDHI'S hunger strike J. EDGAR HOOVER'S interests and hobbies (Fashion, Surveillance, Destroying Lives) The original WOODSTOCK event page and much more.
