emotional ups downs life exposes whether you want them or not. Ms. Kimchi Rhinestone tells it as it is. She will have your soul laughing smiling a lot, crying (a little) and sometimes leave you wondering "is she for real?" My only complaint: the book is too short. I want to read more from the heart of The Amerasian Honky-Tonk Angel. Bring it on! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Lovely Lewd Limericks from a Lovely Lady By Matthew Powers This book is an amazing book of poems and song lyrics. You can find something in here that will fit any mood you are in and most of the time leave you smiling. I would recommend if you are thinking about getting it, just buy 2 copies at the start, one for you to keep in your room and another copy to put in the bathroom, so your guests can enjoy it while on the pot. Only issue with that is they might spend a little longer in there. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Aloe Vera For My Sunburned Soul By Joseph Cee Whether you're looking for humor, wisdom, reflection in your own life or all of the above, The Confessions of Kimchi Rhinestone will tell it like it is with an eclectic blend of poems and songs! This amazing book is now my guidance counselor whenever I feel the need to validate my hopes and fears! The poems read like a journey; some hilarious, others life affirming. You'll laugh! You'll cry. You will want to hug everyone around you and whisper, "It's gonna be okay." I felt like Kimchi Rhinestone was in my own head as I read some of her songs! My favorite poem is, If You Get Coal For Christmas and favorite song is, We Should Go. You need to buy this book. You will not regret it!

You'll laugh, you'll cry, you'll call your priest. This collection muses on mullets, waxes poetic on PMS and defines the boundaries of office bathroom etiquette one rhyme at a time. Part Dolly Parton. Part Dalai Lama. Warning: Explicit Content
