What an awful book.By JamesBad writing by people who simplify life to the point of absurdity. You are not groovy, but ignorant and illiterate.3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Good laugh while learning and growingBy Christian Book PreviewsWow! What a great time I had reading Groovy Chicks Road

Trip to Peace with Laurie Copeland and Dena Dyer. I was afraid that the book would prove to be a tad lame because of the funny title, but I was pleasantly surprised. I found it packed with personal stories by some great--or should I say "groovy?"--writers: Nancy C. Anderson, Tonya Ruiz, Lilly Allison, Tracy Rasmussen, Susan Myers, Joanne Brokaw, Heather Enright, Shae Cook, Kathy Carlton Willis, Sandra Felton, Kay Flowers, Martha Bolton, Allison Bottke, Ellie Kay and many more. The stories in this book are personal accounts of how the women found peace with God, peace with others, and peace with themselves. They are a wonderful potpourri of funny, tear-jerking, and heart-touching stories. At the end of each story the reader finds smile markers (quotations worth remembering); GPS's God's Positioning System (Bible verses); How's Your Inner State? (thought-provoking study questions); Off Ramps (groovy places to visit across the USA); and Pit Stops (activities to entertain and to grow by). I recommend this book to women who enjoy a good laugh while learning and growing. If you want to read true stories about how women journeyed to find peace in Jesus, this is a book you should not miss. - Elece Hollis, Christian Book Previews.com

Just what is a Groovy Chick? She aspires to be at peace with God, others and herself. She is real, honest, growing, open to new ideas and opportunities, energetic and excited about life - and she's on a meaningful journey with Jesus! Laurie and Dena ( in the persons of hip chicks Pepper and Starshine) combine the best of both worlds: touching stories with laugh-so-hard-you-snort stories. The late '60s and early '70s road trip theme is woven throughout with sidebars and extras such as "Pepper's Pit Stops" (road-trip advice, recipes and humorous anecdotes), "Sunshine Smile Markers" (inspiring quotes), What's Your Inner State?" (thought provoking questions and journaling prompts) and Lost? Try GPS - God's Positioning System! (scriptures).

From the Author Welcome! Our names are Dena Dyer and Laurie Barker Copeland (aka Starshine and Pepper), and we're the co-authors--along with a lot of our friends--of The Groovy Chicks' Roadtrip™ to Peace. We're so glad you've joined us on our journey! The reason for the journey? To remind women in this chaotic world that Jesus is the only REAL roadmap to peace, and that with God, we can ALL be groovy! And like The Message says in Psalm 18:30: "What a God! His road stretches straight and smooth. Every God-direction is road-tested. Everyone who runs toward him makes it." About the Author She encourages busy women to draw close to God and experience his approval and grace. Dena graduated from Baylor University and has experience as a professional actress and singer. She's had over 125 magazine articles published in such magazines as Parenting, Nick Jr. Family, and Writer's Digest. She's also the author of Grace for the Race: Meditations for Busy Moms (Barbour, '04). She earned a degree in communications and Theater from Geneva College and her writing has appeared in SHINE, The Minister's Family, The War Cry, Christian Retailing, Simple Joy, and several anthologies. Laurie and her husband and daughter live in Orlando, Florida.
