Michael V. Kennedy : The Hunt for Reds (In October) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Hunt for Reds (In October):

Fun With Spies 2: Even Better Than The FirstBy CocoRicolocoI enjoyed the first book in this series (Covert) so when I saw there was another, I ordered it right away. This adventure of government agent Paul Blaine is even better than the first! This time, he is trying to track down a kidnapped North Korean Volley Ball Team (I won't give away who kidnapped them) to prevent a nuclear war between North Korea and the United States. There are ongoing pot-shots at Kim Jung-II, the North Korean Secret Police, and even the Taliban;

our own government, et al doesn't get off the hook lightly as once again, Homeland Security and the C.I.A are chided and such 'institutions' as Halliburton, Clay Aiken and even Paris Hilton get their shorts singed! There is hypnotism, mistaken-identities, real-estate hoaxes and even conventions of Nuns! It's non-stop silliness, but it all works out in the end---somehow. If you want about a thousand giggles to go along with an occasional guffaw...read this one! (But I also recommend the first in the series). 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. what a great series to have stumbled upon By megan These books are hilarious, what a great series to have stumbled upon. Definitely going to read all of them now.

Time is of the essence as COVERT agent Paul Blaine and his partner, Danny Willoughby, team up with a glamorous CIA agent to find a kidnapped North Korean Volley Ball team before this international incident leads to a nuclear war! Once again, the men from COVERT are on a zany chase to avert a major catastrophe and keep the world (and their jobs) safe!

About the Author Dr. Michael V. Kennedy teaches at High Point University in North Carolina and has published several books and articles on American History and humorous fiction. This is the second installment in the Paul Blaine/COVERT series.
